48 LIVES LOST AT SEA

Passenger Steamer Goes Down 30 Minutes After Grounding On Reef.

12 BODIES LANDED

166 Survivors—Fog Responsible for Accident — Work All Thruogh night.

Eureka, Cal., Aug. 8.—Forty-eight persons, 36 passengers and 12 of the crew, were lost last night when the steamer Alaska, of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company, southbound from Portland, Oregon, to San Francisco, sank 30 minutes after crashing in to the rocks of Blunts Reef, 40 miles south of this city.

The survivors, numbering 166 persons, were brought here today by the rescue ship Anyox, the first vessel to reach the scene of the wreck in response to the Alaska's radio signals. The Coast Guard tug Ranger, dispatched early today from Eureka, returned to port with the bodies of 12 men. Eight were members of the crew and four were passengers. Captain Henry Hobey, master of the Alaska, is still unaccounted for and is believed to have gone down with his ship.

Of the survivors landed by the Anyox, 30 were more or less seriously injured and received medical treatment at local hospitals.

The Alaska struck the reef bow on in a dense fog, according to the survivors, and immediately began to list. The work of launching lifeboats was accomplished without delay or disorder. Three of the boats successfully rode the waves, but the fourth was capsized, throwing its occupants into the sea. The greatest loss, survivors said, resulted from this mishap. A few who wore life belts succeeded in keeping afloat until picked up.

Captain Hobey, when the last of the lifeboats had been sent over the side of the rapidly filling Alaska, went to the stern of his vessel and he was there when it started its plunge to the bottom.

Praise was mutually extended between members of the crew and passengers in their stories of the scenes following the crash. Despite the isolating terror on the ship which was enveloped in fog with the swells dashing against it and throwing spray from ragged rocks of the reef, calmness prevailed among the passengers and crew. It was a short time that scant 30 minutes between the strinking on the rock and the sinking. But without signs of disorder the passengers were helped in to the life boats under calm direction of officers and crew and lowered into the water.

TO ELECT DELEGATES

Elks Tonight Will Also Hear Report on Frisco Convention

Alexandria Lodge No. 758, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, to night will elect ten delgates and ten alternates to the state convention of that organization which will be held in Charlottesville September 9 and 10.

At this meeting reports will be received from the delegates to the national convention held in San Francisco. The delegates were Geo. A. Kaus and W. H. P. Kelly.

The lodge also will have a social session following an initiation.

Noted Musician Visitor Here.

Mr. Wertheim appeared as soloists with the National Symphony Orchestra last season, and was readily acclaimed America's foremost violinist.

Recent critiques from musical editors of the North comment on his marvelous tonal quality, which is said to be equalled by Kreisler alone, while his powers of feeling and interpretation are cited as the "main-springs of a divine geniyus."

ALEXANDRIAN INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—A collision at Fourth and Pennsylvania Avenue, Southeast, between the machine of Alden Bates, 2620 Nichols Avenue Southeast, and Kemper Hardy, 415 Eleventh street Southeast, resulted in the destruction of both cars and injuries to three persons. Albert Morris, 17 years old, of Alexandria, Va., was treated at Casualty Hospital for severe lacerations of the legs. Florence Bates, was removed to Casualty suffering from shock and bruises about the body. Mrs. Lizzie Hardy, 40 years old, was treated at Casualty for a lacerated arm.

State News

Fredericksburg.—E. N. Helsabeck has announced himself an independent candidate for the house of delegates in November election from the legislative district composed of Essex and King and Queen counties.

Roanoke.—Ground was turned yesterday for the erection of a duplicate of the present Viscose silk mill plant, southeast of the city, at a cost of more than $1,000,000. The two additional units will employ a force of 1,700, and the output of the plant will be more than doubled.

Lynchburg.—Wonder is still being expressed in eastern Campbell County over the disappearance last November of Pat Johnson, a farmer from whom nothing has been heard since about Thanksgiving Day. This, despite the fact that the country for miles was searched for his body for several weeks.

Leesburg.—Much interest was shown in the recent primary election for the nominaiton as delegate from Loudoun county. Harry Keen, a prominent farmer from near Middleburg, won over his two opponents, Joseph M. Martin and John O. Daniel. Mr. Keen's maority over his nearest opponent is about 275.

Danville.—Otis Bradley, for 25 years deputy clerk of the corporation court, who defeated his chief, John R. Cook, in Tuesday's primary, was today tendered his old position as deputy, which he accepted. Bradley's election in November is assured, but he will not take the office for 18 months. Cook is planning a brief vacation in the near future.

Lynchburg.—Although local realtors maintain that the sales in July were below those of July a year ago, nevertheless the recordation of deeds in the Corporation Court clerk's office shows five more deeds were admitted to record there this year than last year. July, always a dull month for realty transfers, this year saw sixty-two recordations.

Manassas.—Friday of this week, at the fair grounds, will be held the Prince William county rally and basket picnic, for which plans have been in the making for several months. It will be under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary, the Farmers' Union and the boys' and girls' clubs of the county. Good speaking, games, etc., are promised for the day.

Norfolk.—The annual State camp meeting of the Patriotic Order, Sons of America, will be held in Portsmouth next week. The convention is destined to be an important one and delegates from all parts of the State will attend the sessions, which are to be held in the Woodmen of the World building, in county, near Court street.

Lynchburg.—Contractors on the state highways being built out of Clover, Halifax county, and between Meechum river and Crozet, Albemarle county, have let subcontracts to D. F. Burnett and company of Lynchburg, for the building of small bridges and culverts on the new work. The construction is all to be of concrete.

Petersburg.—The lynching of Lem Johnson, negro, for the murder of T. W. Elmore at Tobacco, Va., early Wednesday morning by a mob of Brunswick and Dinwiddie county citizens, will be investigated by a special grand jury, which has been called by Judge Jesse West to sit at Lawrenceville next Thursday. The special grand jury was called at the request of Commonwealth's Attorney Lewis, of Brunswick.

Fredericksburg.—The missing link of the improved road extending from Kent's gate to the foot of Oakley hill, on the Fredericksburg-Shady Grove road, in Spotsylvania county, was completed Thursday by the joint efforts of the county equipment and the residents of the neighborhood. This link is one of the best built pieces of road in the county. As many as forty-four horses and mules and fifty men worked and the helpers all enjoyed the fine dinners in Oakley Grove, provided free by Charles A. MacHenry.

Petersburg.—That Will Elmore, the negro held in the Richmond jail in connection with the brutal murder of T. W. Elmore, postmaster and storekeeper at Tobacco, Va., on Monday night, and Lem Johnson, the negro lynched by the Brunswick and Dinwiddie counties mob Wednesday morning, may have been two of the six negroes who shot W. R. Harris, town sergeant of Wakefield, last week, when he attempted to arrest them, is the belief held by the police here.

Winchester.—Dr. Randolph Tucker Shields, a medical missionary of the Southern Presbyterian Church in China, arrived at Vancouver, B. C., a few days ago, and is on his way to Winchester to join Mrs. Shields and their son and daughter, who have been with the former's parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Page, since early last spring. Dr. Shields, whose parents are prominent residents of Mississippi, is to be a Rockefeller Foundation instructor during the forthcoming session of the medical school at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

BOOSTER TRIP NEXT FRIDAY

Twenty Autos and Band To Participate In Affair.

BY CITY AD CLUB.

To Boost Coming Dollar Day Sale. and Induce Shoppers of Places Visited To Buy In Alexandria.

Headed by eight pieces of the Citizen's Band, in the neighborhood of 20 automobile loads of business men and earnest boosters of Alexandria will take part in the first of a series of Boosters' Trips which will leave Alexandria next Friday morning and spend the day visiting the smaller towns and villages of the nearby counties.

The trip is under the direction of the Advertising Club of Alexandria and the Retail Merchants' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce is working hand in hand with the club to make this trip a howling success.

The automobiles will leave the corner of King and Pitt street about 9 o'clock Friday morning, and the first town to be visited on the schedule so far laid out, is Del Ray. From there the Boosters will go to Clarendon, Falls Church, Vienna and Fairfax and will eat lunch at the Fairfax Hotel at 1 o'clock. After leaving Fairfax Courthouse, the cavalcade will cross the county to Occoquan, by way of Burke's Station, and will return to this city through Camp Humphreys and Accotink.

Circulars conveying the information incident to the coming Dollar Day Sale will be distributed in each village along the route and the band will render a few selections at each stop along the way. Several of the merchants are planning to equip their cars with banners advertising their own particular business and some will distribute circulars showing the many bargains that are to be found at their particular stores on this big sale day.

The trip is an earnest effort on he part of the Advertising Club and the Retail Merchants Bureau to advertise the city and to bring a crowd of shoppers from the smaller villages to Alexandria for Dollar Day.

A number of the mercahnts have been approached and asked to contribute a small amount toward the printing of the circulars and the hiring of the band and all have gladly joined in the movement toward the biggest Dollar Day ever held here.

Owing to the limited time, however, it will be impossible to see every person who might be willing and anxious to join in the movement and all persons who wish to make the trip, whether or not they own a car are requested to commuicate at once with Mr. Llewellyn Dyson, of S. F. Dyson and Bros., store, and hand in tehir names as wishing to become participants.

Distributing Center.

Virginia Wool Growers Association Selects Alexandria

The Virginia Sheep and Wool Growers Asscoiation, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, have made Alexandria their chief distributing center. It is stated that from two hundred to five hundred thousand pounds of wool will be stored in Alexandria at all times. The wool will be distributed to the trade of this section only from Alexandria. One of the buildings at the old brewery has been secured as the storage house for this section.

Film Star Menaced Near "Bathing Machine."

Atlantic City, Aug. 8.—Miss Hope Hampton, moving picture actress, was badly buffeted by an excited throng of several thousand vacationists when she assisted at the ceremonies attendant upon the christening of Atlantic City's first "bathing machine," introduced by the Ritz Carlton Hotel on the Chelsea Beach yesterday afternoon.

Methodist Protestant Church.

The Methodist Protestant Church in this city was the scene of Christian activity yesterday, there was a large attendance at both morning and evening services. The pastor delivered two very helpful sermons, which were enjoyed very much by all present. His morning subject was the "Higher Life," and the evening subject, "Sowing Wild Oats."

At both services there were nine new members who joined the church At the morning service three children were baptized, and at the evening service three people came to the altar and gave their hearts to Christ The Lord is in his Holy Temple. Midweek prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 8 oclock, choir rehearsal on Friday evening at eight o'clock. This church extends a welcome to all those who have no church home. Come and worship with us.

TO AID WAR DISABLED

$500,000,000 Available for Treatment of Ex-Service Men.

UNDER SWEET BILL

Measure Ready for Harding—Important Changes Made In Provisions of Insurance Law.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Approximately $500,000,000 has been pledged by Congress annually for the care of the sick and disabled soldiers and sailors of the World War. This is exclusive of insurance which the survivors will receive and of any bonus which may at some future time be awarded by Congress.

Considering the number ofdisabled men involved, high authorities insist that the American Government is according more generous treatment in the matter of money, rehabilitation and of hospitalization, to its veterans who suffered disabilities in the service, than is any other Government that engaged in the war.

These are outstanding facts of the legislation which Congress has just enacted under what is known as the Sweet bill, a measure to which President Harding has already committed himself and one which he is expected to formally approve soon after his return from his New England vacation

For weeks the House and Senate have been engaged in perfecting the bill, which consolidates all the agencies which deal with incapacitated service men and which is designed to bring a degree of efficiency and dispatch to that work which has been lacking in the past and which has been the cause of nation wide dissatisfaction.

Harding To Be Elks' Guest.

Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 8.—President Harding, "Uncle Joe" Cannon and many other prominent officials have accepted invtiations to attend the first annual meeting here next week of the Maryland Elks association. The convention will be held on August 15, 16 and 17.

Lawn Fete Tonight.

Many novel features are planned for the lawn fete which will be given tonight by the Girl Scouts of the city at 7:30 o'clock on the lawn of the Young People's Building. The first Girl Scout pin worn by Mrs. Harding will be shown.

Dead Whist Expert Gave Woman Money To Cover Shortage.

Orlando, Fla., Aug. 8.—Joseph B. Elwell, New York sportsman and whist expert who was shot to death in his apartment in New York city last year, loaned Miss Lena Clarke, West Palm Beach postmistress in jail here in connection with the shooting of W. H. Miltimore, $38,000 in 1918 to cover shortage in the West Palm Beach postoffice, according to an alleged statement Sheriff Karel of Orange county, said tonight Miss Clarke made to him.

Thousands of Miners Out of Work August 27.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 8.—Thousands of mine workers in Scranton and the vicinity will be thrown out of work after August 27, when some of the coal companies cease second mining as a result of the operation of the Kohler and Fowler bills, adopted at the last Legislature.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, which operates the majority of collieries in the city, has announced that it will cease all second mining on August 27, and will not resume unless the Kohler and Fowler acts are declared unconstiuttional. The Price Pancoast Company operating in three operations, announces it will close down its plant entirely, as there is only second mining possibly there.

It is stated that the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company will completley close down five of its collieries, all located in West Scranton. Officials of the company say that second mining comprises most of the work being done there and they do not intend chancing jail sentences as the result of the laws that become effective this month.

The company will get out much virgin coal from newly opened tracts while the constitutionality of the acts is being contested.

It is explained that by devoting its energies to this branch, more money will be made for the share holders and it is less expensive mining than that of pillar robbing.

Babylon is believed to have been the first city to attain a population of a million.

Rites for Colonel James.

Funeral of Virginia Representative This Afternoon.

Danville, Va., Aug. 8.—The funeral of Representative Rorer A. James, whose sudden death of heart failure occurred here yesterday, will be conducted this evening at 5 o'clock at the residence. The Rev. J. C. Hall will be the officiating minister, with the service of the Episcopal Church, of which Colonel James was a member and communicant. Interment will be in Greenhill Cemetery.

People are arriving from all parts of the State to attend the obsequies. Senator Swanson and Governor-Elect E. Lee Trinkle arrived on a late train, and the Congressional delegation arrived early this morning. The funeral design sent by Congress is a large Roman cross of roses.

He was born at Brosville 62 years ago, his father being John James, of the upper part of the county, his mother being Miss Angele Rorer, of Pittsylvania county. His early education was at home and then he entered Va., Military Institute from which he graduated. It is one of the salient points of his career the devotion he showed to his alma mater. For ten years he was a member of the board of visitors, four years as chairman.

It is recorded, that once Colonel James said that the height of his ambition was to be chairman of the V. M. I. board and few things pleased him more than his elevation to that position. He invariably attended the finals. Mr. James began his political career in the house of delegates in 1891. He served in the lower house for two years and was then elected from Pittsylvania to the state senate for eight years. His political sagacity soon won for him a place in state affairs and the late Senator Thomas Martin early recognized his ability, Colonel James being one of his warmest supporters and close personal friends. In 1899 he purchased the Danville Bee, both of which were owned by him at the time of his death. He was on the verge of building a new handsome newspaper plant, a lot having been cleared for this purpose and plans submitted by architects only recently.

Mr. James was chairman of the Fifth District Democratic committee for many years and at the convention held at Roanoke was named chairman of the state Democratic committee by acclaim; this in 1920 when he was already acting as such, having succeeded the late J. Taylor Ellyson.

Mr. James, who, it is recalled, was a B.L. of the University of Virginia, graduating in law after graduating from V. M. I. entered congress to succeed Edward W. Saunders, of Franklin county, who resigned to accept an appointment on the Virginia supreme court bench. This was early in the spring of 1919. Mr. James was nominated and elected for the short or unexpired term as well as the ensuing full term in the sixty-sixth congress, sweeping the district by a substantial majority.

To the members of his personal staff at his newspaper office who regarded Mr. James more as a friend and adviser than an employer the news, of his death today came as stunning blow. A telephone message reporting him dead was the first received and in a few minutes the report had been confirmed.

Colonel James was married in the early nineties to Miss Annie Wilson of Henry, who survives him with the following children, Wilson R. James, of Camden, N. J., Rorer A. James, Jr., his associate in the conduct of his paper, Miss Annie James and John Bruce James. One brother survives, Dr. Bruce R. James.

Police Court.

Only three cases were called for trial in the police court. One was a colored man charged by Policeman Thompson and Durrer with violating the traffic law, and he was fined $10. A white man arrested by Policemen Rawlett and Talbot for being drunk on the street forfeited $5 collateral and a white man arrested by Sergt. Campbell and Durrer charged with being drunk, forfeited $5 collateral.

Repudiation of Truce In Ireland Is Threatened By Sinn Fein.

Dublin, Aug 8.—Repudiation of the truce between England and Ireland is considered a possibility should the British Government persist in its refusal to liberate John J. McKeown, a member of the Irish Republican Parliament, who is under conviction of murder. Responsible Sinn Fein leaders identify themselves with McKeown's act as part of the war and consider refusal to release him as indicating a want of good faith on the part of the Government.

General Sir Nevil Mac Ready, in command of the British froces in Ireland, recently had a conference with Premier Lloyd George, and responsibility for the present situation in connection with McKeowns imprisonment is considered by Sinn Feiners to rest on him. Strong efforts are being made today by influential persons not connected with Sinn Fein, who fear consequences injurious to peace, to secure a reversal of the Governments decision. It is reported that a special courier has been sent to see the Premier.

12,000,000 ARE STARVING

Mrs. Harrison Declares Two-thirds of Russians On Hunger Rations.

CROPS ENDANGERED

She Predicts Food Situation Will Have Vital Bearing On Public Health—Polish Campaign Hurt.

Berlin, Aug. 8.—The American relief workers who are about to go into famine stricken Russia probably will find 12,000,000 persons in the Volga basin actually starving and two-thirds of the entire population of Russia on hunger rations, according to Mrs. Marguerite E. Harrison, the Baltimore newspaper woman, recently released from prison in Soviet Russia.

This Mrs. Harison attributes to international economic and political disintegration under Soviet rule, and also to the ravages of the internecine wars against Admiral Kolchak and General Wrangel, and to the drought What the drought failed to accomplish conscription of farm hands and the requisitioning of grain for the Red armies completed.

The result is that the Ukrainian Republic, normally the granary of Russia, barely is able to sustain it self. Siberia virtually is in the same predicament. Neither region is willing to surrender grain to the famine sections, and migrations of peasants as now proceding, complete ly halting the autumn planting, which constitutes a threat against next year's crops. The food situation, Mrs. Harrison said, also will have a swift and decisive bearing on the public health, although the Russian sanitary crops had the cholera situation in hand when she left Moscow at the end of July.

The famine area begins between Nizhni-Novgorod and Kazan on the north and extends southward in a broad belt to Tsaritsin, on both sides of the Volga, embracing the Tartar Republic provinces of Simbirsk, Samara, Saratov, Penza and Tambov; the Teherkask Republic, parts of Riazan and Tula, and a large part of the province of Ufa to the foothills of the Ural Mountains.

Famine conditions have been made worse by poor transportation and the inefficiency of local distribution organization, which have been vigorously attacked by the newspapers during the past few weeks. For instance, 85 per cent of the milk spoiled in the Moscow Government was due to the defective organization of the receiving stations.

Pitiful stories of suffering are told on all sides. The peasants of Tambov are reported to be eating bread made of straw, potato parings and weeds. It is called lebedya. In the Novenski prison where Mrs. Harrison was detained the bread was adulterated with a flour which appeared to have been made from cow peas. Kasha, the staple cereal of the peasants, has been replaced by flageolet beans, which are imported.

Mrs. Harrison visited the Volga basin with the British labor delegation a year ago, when she observed symptoms of the approaching food shortage. This, she said, is not the result of the crop failure, but of the economic conditions prevailing since the beginning of the revolution. During the Kolchak campaign the Volga provinces were overrun, with the result that the fields were not cultivated and the population scattered. This was one reason why the official figures for 1920 showed that the number of farm workers in Russia had decreased 50 per cent since 1916.

Ringel, Daring Airman, Elopes With Widow.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 8.—Announcement was made here tonight of the elopement and marriage of Harry Ringel, known throughout the country as "Jersey" Ringel, dare-devil airman, and Mrs. Blanche West Allison, of St. Elmo, a suburb.

The couple stole away late Thursday evening and drove in a car to a near-by town for the ceremony.

Five Hurt At Shore In Auto Accidents.

Atlantic City, Aug. 8.—Five children were injured last night and today as the result of the invasion of the resort by thousands of motorists from all sections of the country.

Three girls, Katherine Martin, Helen Kerr and Elenor McCann, were driving a pony cart when a heavy machine crashed into the vehicle at Rhode Island and French avenues. All were taken to the City Hospital, suffering from shock.

George Erickson, a messenger boy, was knocked down by a machine, driven by Wilson Victor, a New York salesman. The lad suffered a fracture of the ankle.

Thelma Aralmoxitz, 3 years old, was struck by a car driven by Charles Samuelson, escaping with slight injuries.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Washington, Aug. 8.—Alexandrians will be interested in the proposition of the bureau of Ordnance of the Navy Department to transfer gun tests from Indian Head to Dahlgren, on the Virginia side of the Potomac. This suggestion, emaanting from the Navy Department is meeting with determined opposition from the Maryland delegation in Congress and especially from Sydney E. Mudd of that state who is a member of the Naval Affairs Committee of the House.

It has been represented at hearings before the Naval Affairs Committee that the five hundred civilian employees oppose the transfer to Dahlgren. They claim that they have purchased homes at Indian Head and that if they were compelled to move across the Potomac the expense entailed would be greater than they could bear to say nothing of the inconveniences to which they would be subjected.

Those who are fighting against the proposed transfer of the testing plant from Indian Head to Dahlgren claim that at the latter place there is no harbor and that Congress would be called upon to spend millions for deepening the Potomac River at this point in order that vessels might be afforded an appraoch to it.

"Vessels now anchor three miles away and barges are towed to Dahlgreen with the guns. Then will come other estimates for housing projects whereas the government has constructed two hundred homes at Indian Head," is the argument made by the advocates of the retention of Indian Head to the Navy Department authorities.

Representative Mudd who is leading the fight against any change admits that it might be satisfactory to test out the big 12-inch and 16-inch guns, fired at high angles at Dahlgren, as during the war, but it would be foolish to take all gun testing away from Indian Head, where it has been conducted successfully for more than twenty years.

Navy Department officials, in arguing for a change in the testing plants claim that at Indian Head individuals are liable to injury as the result of the fire of long range guns. They say that the Virginia site agreed upon for such purposes would remove the possibility of claims against the government arising out of gun tests now conducted at the Maryland point.

In rebuttal of this argument the Maryland delegation in Congress claim that there has not been a fatality at Indian Head in thirty years as the result of gun tests and armor plate experiments except among the employees actually on duty at the time.

The Navy Department, while favoring the transfer from Indian Head to Dahlgren will not act upon the matter until the Naval Affairs Committee of the House has signified by its vote that it prefers to create at the Virginia location a gun testing plant in preference to the one now maintained by the government on the Maryland side of the Potomac.

One of the three principal sources of supply for "bootleg" whiskey has been closed more tightly than a drum under new rules for the sale of intoxicants announced by Commissioner of Prohibtiion Haynes. Reduction of the amount of whiskey available in the United States by 5,000,000 gallons a year is estimated by prohibition enforcement officials to result from the new regulations.

While approximately 20,000,000 gallons of whiskey a year are now being withdrawn from bonded warehouses, the new restrictions on the sale of liquor are expected to reduce this amount to 15,000,000 gallons a year or less.

This source of supply, which has proven a gold mine for the bootleggers in the past, has been the constant drain and leak of whiskey legally manufactured and held in this country, but which, by devious means, has been getting into the hands of those who sell for $10 a quart or more to the thirsty consumers.

Since the advent of the prohibition law, leaks of whiskey have been serious. Wholesalers and retailers of whiskey have suffered unaccountable and mysterious robberies and depletions in stock, the whiskey in question always finding its way to the bootleg market. Shipments of liquor have been waylaid, freight cars have been robbed, all to the enhancement of the supply of illegal booze, at $10 a quart or more.

But there is to be no more of this under the new rules. Commissioner Haynes has decided that there will be only two kinds of wholesalers in the future. One will be the manufacturer and the other will be the wholesale druggists. Not only must the wholesale druggist be bona fide, under the new regulations, but he must limit his whiskey business to 10 per cent. of his business in drugs. He will not be permitted to use his drug business as a blind for the whiskey he sells. In other words, the days of the fake wholesaler has passed.

Furthermore, in the future, when whiskey is bottled, it must be bottled only in pints. Quarts and "shorties," as half pints are known,

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Deem not life a thing of consequence. For look at the yawning void of the future, and at that other limitless space, the past.

Marcus Aurelius.

THE DESERT

There are three visible symbols of Eternity and the Infinite. The mountains, the sea, and the desert. The mountains bear a kindly human relationship; they have furnished since the beginning of time, food, drink and shelter to their children, who besides, flee to their protecting fastnessess in times of peril. Their majesty and grandeur are, it is true, awe-inspiring; but they are nevertheless essentially human.

The sea in its limitless expanse likewise possesses the attributes that make for sublimity. Likewise, too, it has elements common to the nature of man; and in its friendlier moods animates his spirit with a longing and desire for its companionship. Even its fiercer and more terrible moments find response in his heart.

But the desert is without a single attribute in common with mankind. Its awfulness of silence, its dreadfulness of solitude, its utter unrelief of variety, its formidable waste of lifeless expanse,—these touch no chord of sympathy in the human breast. It may be for the very this, that man feels his helplessness in its compelling presence, and is thus constrained to search for a higher power upon which he may lean in his feebleness and isolation. The necessity of worship is one of the preconditions of human existence. Prayer is the one indespensable craving of the soul. The desert accentuates this as no other earthly influence and brings Man face to face with his Maker.

Why, then, does the desert exert its inexplicable fascination for men and women? Why, having once dwelt within its fearful horizons do they feel ever after its awesome spell? Once having its strange enchantment woven into their lives, why do they feel this longing to return, this almost heart-breaking desire to dwell again amidst its monotonous solitudes?

Perhaps the only explanation is this very fact of complete detachment from everything human; of nearness to the Creator, and the ineffable consciousness of spiritual kinship to the Divine First Cause! Certainly the desert exerts a fascination comparable to no other physical creation. The cause, we take it, must be attributable to some source deeper than that of the impressions created by the mountains and the sea. And those, who have experienced the absorbing spell of the desert, may like to think that the reason thereof strikes root as deep as creation itself; co-eval with human existence; and co-eternal with the destiny of the human soul.

Inauguration of faster schedules by the Southern has been made possible on account of the shortened distance and excellent condition of the double tracked line extending all the way from Washington to Atlanta. Since the completion of the double track work which involved the rebuilding of practically the whole of the railway, the Southern's through passenger trains have made a remarkable record for on-time performance and the management feels that the new and faster schedules can be operated with as satisfactory results.

When the Soviet retock the Volga provinces in 1919 they proceeded vigorously, and in the main efficiently, to carry out the program of agricultural reconstruction. They succeeded fairly well, though lacking in man-power, machinery and fertilizer The Commisariat of Agriculture began a campaign of education, sending to the provinces trained propaganda workers and technical literature experts.

In the spring of last year, Mrs. Harrison said, the reserve supplies which had been hidden were nearly exhausted, but the crop prospects were good. This was the situation when the Polish campaign brought further conscriptions and requisitions in addition to the natural produce tax. At the close of 1920 the Government found the food supplies greatly inadequate, and in February the revolt hindered the importation for a time of foodstuffs from Siberia. In the early spring the Soviet instituted free trade and reorganized the co-operative societies in the provinces, but these measures were not productive of great practical results and the people pinned their hopes on a good harvest.

Then the drought set in, with an almost loss to the crops in the Volga region, resulting in a hopeless situation. Alarming reports began to pour into Moscow, not only of famine but of the mass migrations from the Volga regions, which the Government will is unable to control. Last year the Soviet encouraged emigration, when 138,688 persons were transferred to Silberia realizing the threat of famine which had been growing for several years.

Widow of Kinkead Wants Vengeance.

New York, Aug. 8.—Firm in the belief of her husband's innocence and with words of vengeance for the woman slayer of her mate, Mrs. Gormley Kinkead, widow of Ellis Guy Kinkead, lawyer, who was shot down in front of his Brooklyn home Friday, left New York today with the body of her husband for his childhood home in Covington, Ky.

Believing that her husband was the victim of a woman with an unbalanced mind, who resorted to murder when her blackmail efforts failed, Mrs. Kinkead wept silently as she repeated again and again:

"I know my dear husband is innocent and that he had been grievously wronged. I'm going to take him to his childhood home and to the place where our love developed into marriage."

Shortly before the train moved away Mrs. Kinkead broke down when she was told that Miss Olive M. P. Stone, a nurse, who is held charged with the murder, remarked that "she was the happiest woman in the world now that she knew Kinkead was dead."

"I am sure the woman is mentally unbalanced," Mrs. Kinkead said. "She is not from Louisville or Covington or any of the places she says. She is from the mountains of Tennessee and she has all the fiery characteristics of the mountaineer.

"She has told a wierd story of the whole affair. It is a story that to me, who knows all about my husband, is nothing but a series of lies. The woman could not have been right to have told the disconnected story that she did. To make her act a justifiable one she adds that my husband defrauded her out of $1,000.

"She has done all the harm that is humanly possible and now its up to the law to take its course. And I feel sure that this woman will pay the penalty."

Miss Stone is being held without bail pending a hearing. She met Kinkead in front of his Brooklyn home on Friday and pumped six bullets into his body. She said that Kinkead lived with her as her common law husband and borrowed $1,000. Later, she said, he married in secret with the protection of the police.

Miss Stone told her story without reservation and said emphatically that she had no regrets and is happy for the first time in two years.

RICHMOND THEATRE

48 Lives Lost At Sea.

Captain Hobey's heroic direction of the life saving was such a thrilling example that several men passengers stayed by his side as the women and children were taken first into the boats.

Captain Snoddy, of the Anyox, and his crew defied the treacheries of the reef in carrying on the rescue work, but it was with difficulty that the victims in lifeboats and many in life preservers or clinging to drifting wreckage were found.

All through the night the rescuers worked, picking up many who had been struggling in the water, clinging to wreckage, for hours.

One of the last survivors picked up was Irene Dyer, a girl not yet in her teens, who had been clinging to wreckage for more than eight hours.

George Glenn, who, with another passenger and the captain, were the last men on the ship, came to the surface a short time afterward and finally bound an empty lifeboat. Others were struggling in the water The steamer Anyox, towing a barge to Vancouver, was 12 miles distant when the S O S signals of the Alaska flashed out.

Within an hour the Anyox arived at the wreck and with order that won high praise from the survivors, the crew of the Anyox speedily picked up those who were drifting in life preservers or in lifeboats.

New York, Aug. 8.—The American schooner Cecelia Cohen was reported today as on fire and in a sinking condition about 60 miles off Cape Hatteras. A radio message to the naval communications service here said the crew had been rescued by the steamer West Keeny on her way to New York.

The Cecelia Cohen was a vessel of 1,100 gross tons, built in 1920 at Bath, Maine. She was recently reported as having gone ashore on a reef off the Florida coast on a voyage from Tampa, Florida.

THE AMERICAN TOY INDUSTRY

In 1914, according to the census returns there were 290 establishments in the United States manufacturing toys and games, with an aggregate capital of $10,483,843, and a total of 8,902 persons engaged in the industry The pre-war demand far exceeded the domestic production and the decline in the receipts of imported toys from 1915 until after the armistice led to an extensive development of the toy industry in this country.

The retail value of the toy production in 1913 was probably not less than $20,000,000, in contrast to which a recent bulletin of the Toy Manufacturers' Association of the United States of America, which comprises about 110 members, estimates the sale of toys during the past year at $100,000,000, of which $80,000,000 was made in the United States, with indications that 1921 will probably show an increase in production of at least 30 per cent. It is said that about 10,000 persons are now employed in toy making.

FELT SHE WOULD SOON COLLAPSE

"My health was so completely broken down I was on the verge of a collapse, but Tanlac has restored me just perfectly and I am simply overjoyed to be feeling so strong and well again," said Mrs. M. J. Harlow, 12 West Main St., Richmond, Va.

"I had been in poor health for six years," she stated, "and had grown so weak I just felt that I would break down any time and have to give up. To do the least thing simply exhausted me, and often I gave out completely, I was nervous and trembly and hardly knew what sleep was, for I was restless night and day. My appetite was gone, nothing tasted right to me and I was getting weaker every day. I tried and tried to get something to help me but was discouraged, for nothing seemed to do me any good.

"But there is no need now for anyone to give up hope if they can only get Tanlac. In just a few weeks it restored me to health and strength, and I have felt splendid in every way since. My appetite is just fine, and Tanlac has built me up so wonderfully I feel like a differenent person altogether. I am not a bit nervous and can do my housework with ease. I recommend Tanlac from the bottom of my heart. I just can't praise it enough."

THE PEACH OF THE TROPICS NOW AT HEIGHT OF SEASON

Midsummer is the best season for mangoes which are now available in northern markets, points out the United States Department of Agriculture. The mango is one of the really great fruits of the world. India with its hundreds of millions of people has for centuries held it sacred and celebrates annual ceremonies in its honor. It is a fruit, the importance of which Americans are beginning to recognize. Several fine varieties are practically free from fiber. They can be eaten with a spoon as easily as a muskmelon. These are not to be confused with the worthless seedling mangoes of the West Indies.

The Hayden mango is a particularly fine example of the "peach of the Tropics." It is a seedling of the first East Indian mango brought to America. The original plant was brought here by the United States Department of Agriculture and planted at the field station at Miami, Fla. Extraordinary care was necessary at first to protect it from frost. It was three times seriously threatened. The fruit of its seedlings shows a much finer development than those the parent plant bore.

This type of mango, when ripe, is about the size of an avocado. It is smooth egg-shaped, with brilliant red coloring, shading off to a luscious yellow. Northern dealers sell the fruit at from 65 to 85 cents each. Last season they cost as much as $1.2 apiece. Americans are perhaps more open-minded in trying out new foods than any other nationality in the world, the when people in this country learn to like mangoes they will be grown for popular consumption.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear son, HUBERT K. HOY, who died thirteen years ago today, August 8, 1908.

His cheery ways, his smiling face,
Are pleasures to recall,
He had a kindly word for each,
He died beloved by all.
Home at rest so sweetly sleeping,
In his Savior's tender care,
Where there is no pain or sorrow,
None on earth can harm you there

VIRGINIA'S INDUSTRIAL SITUATION

General—Iron, steel, and foundries show increased depression. Shipyards and ship repair industries are inactive. Fibre-silk mills are increasing their forces. Other textiles show increased employment of 3.6 per cent. Building trades are more active. General employment conditions throughout the State are improved.

Richmond—Unemployment in Richmond is most prevalent among unskilled workers. However, general conditions are improved. Unemployment among skilled and semi-skilled labor is most noticeable in the ranks of railroad shop employees, machinists, and iron and wood workers. Building trades are active, with intensive building program in progress. A survey of 46 business concerns, employing less than 500, shows the following result: 8 report a decrease in number of persons on pay roll; 18 report no change in number since last month; and 20 report an increase. This is taken to indicate a decidedly satisfactory condition in the matter of employment.

Norfolk—Unemployment is found principally in shipping circles. Construction work at Fort Storey will employ from 1,000 to 1,500 men, mostly unskilled labor. A shortage of houses exists notwithstanding considerable building is in progress. Further industrial improvement is looked for.

Petersburg—There is considerable unemployment, particularly in cotton and tobacco factories; other industries as a general rule are operating part time. Public improvements will employ about 250 men. Wholesalers and retailers report business quiet. There is a marked housing shortage. Business is expected to improve slowly.

Roanoke — Railway employment shows improvement, though still below normal. Steel fabricating plants, and twine, cotton, and knitting mills are operating with 50 per cent or normal forces. An artificial silk mill, now employing 2,000, contemplated doubling its plant. Building trades are fairly well employed.

Lynchburg—General unemployment is reported, especially in unskilled labor. Street work on a large scale will continue through the summer and fall. This together with the erection of two new school buildings, will afford considerable employment. No concerted effort is being made to improve the housing situation.

RUSSIAN MEDIATION

Both public and private accounts from England speak unfavorably of the Russian Mediation between Great Britain and this country. The following is an extract of a letter from the house of Mullet, of London: "We have nothing of farther moment to communicate. We may, however, add the expression of our firm conviction that the mission to St. Petersburg from Washington can answer no end as regards the matters in dispute between our two governments, and that the prospect of a termination to the present unfortunate hostilities between us, is as unfavorable as ever.

NAVAL GENERAL ORDER

The palpable and criminal intercourse held with the enemy's forces, blockading and invading the waters and shores of the United States, is, in a military view, an offense of so deep a dye as to call for the vigilant interposition of all the Naval Officers of the U. States ..... Traffic, intercourse and intelligence is carried on with great subtility and treachery by profligate citizens, who, in vessels ostensibly navigating our own waters, from port to port, under cover of night or other circumstances favoring their turpitude, find means to convey succours or intelligence to the enemy and elude the law.

.....I am therefore, commanded by the President of the U. States to enjoin and direct all Naval Commanding officers to exercise the strictest vigilance and to stop and detain all vessels or craft, whatsoever, proceeding, or apparently intending to proceed towards the enemy's vessels."—etc., etc.

Navy Department, July 29, 1813.

have had their day. Physicians usually prescribe a pint, when they can be persuaded to prescribe at all, so that the Prohibition Commissioner does not see the use of quarts or half pints.

No matter who pays the bills, the United States government must be reimbursed for its outlay in maintaining the American army of occupation on German territory. It has been estimated that the maintenance of American troops on German soil since the signing of the armistice, has cost Uncle Sam approximately $300,000,000.

Despite the fact that the United States did not sign the Treaty of Versailles or was not a party to the ratification of this pact. the policy of this government, enunciated by Secretary of State Hughes has been clearly set forth in so far as reimbursement for the American army of occupation on the Rhine is concerned. It is held by State Department officials, with whom the Gazette correspondent has conversed, that despite the fact that this government was not a signatory to the Treaty of Versailles, we expect and will insist upon the payment of our bills incurred through American occupation of German territory. If Germany is not able to recompense us, then the Allied Nations, under the Treaty of Peace, will be requested to make good the expenses incurred as the result of such occupancy on our part.

To Aid War Disabled.

The new enactment makes 10 more or less important changes in the present system of treating and training disable dsoldiers and sailors. Under the old law the administration of Government insurance and all compensation claims is performed by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance; the hospitalization, medical care and treatment, by the United States Public Health Service, and the vocational training by the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

The Sweet bill corrolidates and centralizes all of these bureaus by creating an independent organization under which they merge, to be known as the Veterans Bureau. This bureau is placed directly under the jurisdiction of the President.

The present law limits the medical care and treatment of incapacitated veterans to those suffering with a service disease or injury of 10 per cent. or more. The new bill extends medical care and treatment to all service men suffering from disease or injury of service origin of less than 10 per cent as well as above that mark. Many dental, eye, ear, nose and throat cases, where disability is less than 10 per cent., now may be cared for.

Again the rate and amount of compensation provided by the existing law is no way affected by the Sweet bill. The law remains the same in providing that compensation shall not be paid to any incapacitated veteran unless the disability is at least 10 per cent.

The rights of ex-service men to war risk insurance, however, are increased by the bill in three important respects. Men suffering from disability of service origin may reinstate their lapsed insurance, for instance, by payment of all back premiums, provided they are not permanently or totally disabled. Under existing law no insurance policy can be reinstated unless it is proved that the insured is in as good physical condition at the time of reinstatement as at the time when the policy lapsed.

This has resulted in thousands of men being denied insurance. The same opportunity to reinstate lapsed insurance policies is extended to beneficiaries where it can be demonstrated that the death of the service man was due to wounds or disease contracted in the service.

There is no clause in the new legislation affecting the vocational training of disabled service men. The existing system is to be carried on as before.

Under the present law no compensation can be claimed or paid unless death or disability occurred prior to or within one year after the passage of the amendatory act.

Authority is vested in the Veterans Bureau to review on its own motion any award of compensation previously granted. It also permits the rating and granting of compensation from the date of the disability began.

Another amendment further extends the benefits of the present law by relieving applicants for compensation, who are suffering with tubercular or neuropsychiatric diseases developing within two years from the necessity of proving that the disease was contracted in the line of service. This will settle it is said, 15,000 claims pending now awaiting proof that the applicants' tuberculosis or mental diseases were contracted in the service.

THEY DO IT!
We spent years experimenting with different blends of tobaccos to obtain —a new flavor
—a more pleasing aroma
—and to obtain what is more important still—the one thing that smokers have always wished a cigarette would do—
"SATISFY!"
And Chesterfields do "satisfy."
For in Chesterfields the tobaccos—Turkish, and Burley and other choice home-grown varieties—are blended differently—and better—to give you and all smokers that greater measure of cigarette enjoyment.

They Satisfy

State News

Winchester.—Fred A. Graichen, wealthy Winchester glove manufacturer and land owner, has been held technically on a charge of destroying and defacing private property, and is to have a hearing as soon as witnesses are able to appear. His arrest followed a series of police court trials. Police said he had objected to Mrs. Bettie Thatcher, a neighbor, permitting several roomers to lodge at her residence, claiming she had no boarding house license, while he had taken out such a license.

Fredericksburg.—The board of directors of Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce has arranged for an outdoor August membership meeting, which will be held this evening on the lawn of Brompton Heights, the home of Capt. M. B. Rowe. Ernest N. Smith, chairman of the resolutions and referenda department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will make an address on "The Greatest Room in the World." The Fredericksburg Band will furnish music. Refreshments will be served.

Fredericksburg.—The school board of Rappahannock district, King George court house. Miss Harwood, division superintendent, was instructed to secure the plans and specifications, and the work will soon begin. The board already has a fund of $6,000 to $7,000, and it is expected that the total cost of the new building will be about $9,000.

Danville.—The annual Virginia Methodist conference, which will be held this year at Centenary Church, Richmond, has been moved up two weeks ahead of last year's date and a month earlier than the conference held two years ago. This is being done, it is asserted in well informed circles, in order that the Virginia conference may fall more nearly at the same time of other Methodist conferences throughout the Southern States. An additional reason is that annually more than 150 ministers are changed and the removal late in November comes during bad weather.

PRESS OF THE STATE FAVORS RETAINING MEDICAL SCHOOL AT UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

Charlottesville, Va., August 10.—Editorial comment on the medical school removal question has been overwhelmingly in favor of the retention of the medical school at the University of Virginia, according to the officials of the Charlottesville association favoring retention.

The editorial of the Richmond Times-Dispatch of July 24th favoring the location of the consolidated school at Charlottesville has been reproduced, quoted from, and favorably commented upon by practically every daily in the State, and a large number of the weeklies.

Nor has the press comment been confined to Virginia. Strong editorials deploring the threatened dismemberment of the University and favoring the retention of the medical school on its campus have appeared in the New York Sun, the Baltimore News, the Washington Post, and other large dailies, that look upon the proposed move to Richmond as "unfortunate."

The point most frequently made by the Virginia editorial writers has been that Richmond has not made out its case—that there has not been brought forward sufficient evidence to warrant moving the school from the University to Richmond. The Virginia press is practically unanimously of the opinion that the two prime considerations in the question are medical education in Virginia and the University of Virginia itself, and, as some of the papers have pointed out, the proposed removal to Richmond does not promise special benefit to either, but on the other hand might impair the efficiency of both.

The idea of dismemberment of the University which the proposed move to Richmond carries with it is abhorrent to many papers. "The people of Virginia want to build up, not tear apart, their state University," says the Roanoke Times, in its editorial of July 31st, in which it believes that the fight has been virtually won for the University.

Besides the mass of editorial comment which the question has drawn within the past week the press has been filled with strong and striking protests from alumni and friends of the University who have advanced very convincing arguments for the retention of the medical school at the University. In addition the alumni of Virginia in the larger cities of the state including Lynchburg, Roanoke and Norfolk, have met and passed unanimous resolutions against the proposed move to Richmond.

SPORTS

In one of the best games of ball ever played in a local field, the Dreadnaughts lost to the Rex A. C. yesterday by the score of 5 to 4. It was a stubornly fought contest with the D's leading for the first five innings to 0. Rex tied it up in the sixth with a double to left by Roche. The game should have gone the way the others have been going but failure to take advantage of opportunities at the right time coupled with bad base running turned it the other way. The team fought hard and played good ball but the breaks were not theirs it seemed. Both teams had error number of hits, ten apiece, which included triples by Ludlow, Alexander and Summers, whose hit went over the stretch into a home run. It can be truly said that no team has given Rex any better opposition than the one they ran into yesterday.

The largest crowd of the season was on hand and they all agreed it was a heartbreaker to lose. Saturday the Brooklands were defeated by the score of 5 to 4 the second tiem this season at the hands of the locals.

Batteries—Quayle and Savage, Von Huberlis and Johnson.

The A's journeyed to Clarendon yesterday and defeated their fast team in a fast and well played game Savage, Hodges, and Wop Anderson divided honors in batting, each of them getting 2 hits apiece.

The sixth inning told the tale. The A's scored 4 runs and hammered Von Huberlis, star twirler, for Clarendon, at will. He was retired from the slab at the beginning of the 7th inning.

Quayle and Savage, the best combination in this vicinity, played their usual game which is always good, and with the excellent support of both the in and out fielders, they led the A's to victory.

The A's have a season record of 16 victories and 4 losses to date. They feel as though they have qualified themselves now and should not be classed as under raters. Come on Dreadnaughts let's go.

TRADE WITH GERMANY

American exports to Germany in 1920 amounted to $311,437,000, a higher valuation than that of any previous year except 1912 and 1913. The three principal commodities exported were cotton, lard and wheat, of which cotton comprised more than a third of the total value. Commenting on the trade with Germany, the National Bank of Commerce in New York says that it recovered to a remarkable degree, because, after the United Kingdom, Canada, France, Cuba, Japan and Italy, Germany was the chief customer of the United States in 1920.

A large number of snakes have reached London from the New York Zoo. Now that the country is settling down to Prohibition, American can no longer bear to see them.—Punch (London).

BUSINESS MEN COMPOSE LARGE PERCENTAGE OF TRANS-PACIFIC PASSENGERS

The interests of the merchants of the United States in trade with Orient is shown by the fact that some authorities estimate that about 75 per cent of the Trans-Pacific passengers are traveling on business, with about 20 per cent missionaries, and only 5 per cent tourists. The small percentage of tourists is attributed to the fact that they can not be assured that they can stop off at various ports and secure accommodations when they are ready to proceed. Before the war the missionary travel was about the same as at present, but business men furnished only about 5 per cent of the travelers, and tourists about 75 per cent. It is said that steamship lines are able to handle only about 50 per cent of the business offered, and there are no signs of the number of travelers decreasing during the winter months. Hotels throughout the Orient are likely to be crowded, and reservations should be made before arrival.

The largest organ in the world is to be installed in the cathedral now nearing completion in Liverpool. It will have no fewer than 10,567 pipes and 215 stops.

Switzerland lost more than 6,000,000,000 francs during the war, including 2,400,000,000 on German scrip, 500,000,000 on Austrian scrip and 400,000,000 through hotels.
